

Doctoral Students

Daytona Beach Campus Only

Embry-Riddle's Daytona Beach Campus offers doctoral programs to the most competitive applicants. Doctoral candidates are required to submit the same documentation as graduate/master's seeking applicants, to include transcripts, a statement of objective, letters of recommendation, and a resume. GRE/GMAT test scores may be required for some programs. Review the graduate admissions requirements (<https://catalog.erau.edu/admissions/graduate-applicants/>) section for details.

Candidates are reviewed for admission only after all documents have been received. Contact the Office of Graduate Admissions (<https://erau.edu/admissions/graduate-admissions>) for admissions questions.
