

Undergraduate Applicants

Embry-Riddle reviews all aspects of each applicant's qualifications to admit undergraduate students pursuing aviation and aerospace careers. Admissions requirements and procedures vary by campus and applicant type, including first-year, transfer, non-traditional, non-degree/transient, and certificate-seeking students.

For details on deadlines, tuition, and financial aid, contact the admissions office at your chosen campus. Review the undergraduate admission requirements that apply to you.