

Forensic Science (FRSC)

FRSC 220 Investigative Methodology and Forensic Science 3 Credits (3,0)

Exploration of forensic science principles and investigative techniques. Emphasis on the legal and ethical framework for evidence evaluation, the scientific principles underlying forensic methods, and the preparation of investigations for judicial and administrative purposes.

Prescott Corequisites: FRSC 220L

Prerequisites: PSYC 101 or BIOL 120 or PSYC 222 or SOSC 200

Course Offered at: Prescott, Worldwide

FRSC 220L Investigative Methodology and Forensic Science Laboratory 1 Credit (0,1)

Hands-on application of forensic science techniques and investigative procedures. Focus on evidence collection, handling, and analysis within legal and ethical frameworks, with practical experience in crime scene management.

Corequisites: FRSC 220

Course Offered at: Prescott

FRSC 299 Special Topics in Forensic Science 1-6 Credit (1-6,0)

Individual, independent, or directed studies of selected topics in forensic science.

Course Offered at: Daytona Beach, Prescott