

M.S. in Data Science

Students will:

- Apply data mining and database knowledge to identify, retrieve, cleanse and store data.
- Apply their learning from project-based coursework to solve new unknown problems.
- Apply knowledge of statistical inference and machine learning tools to real industry applications obtained by methods including, but not limited to, case studies or detailed literature reviews.