

M.S. in Computer Science

Students will:

- Have an ability to apply fundamental computer science professional practices to analyze, design, and implement security-critical systems.
- Have an ability to apply knowledge of advanced topics in cybersecurity engineering and/or computer science.
- Have an ability to communicate effectively on issues pertaining to computer science and/or cybersecurity.