Project Global Officer (GO)

Project GO is a nationwide program open to all qualified ROTC students. Qualified participants receive a fully funded scholarship, which includes 6-12 course credits in critical language education, overseas study, and cross-cultural experiences. Through Project GO, future military officers develop linguistic and cross-cultural communication skills required for effective leadership in the 21st-century operational environment.

Students may apply for a Project GO program from one of dozens of universities throughout the United States. If accepted for the program hosted at Embry-Riddle, students will attend an eight-week intensive language and cultural immersion program in Asia with a Mandarin and Chinese language focus. Courses are taught in a study abroad format and will meet for four hours each weekday, with tutoring and assignments required outside the classroom. On the weekend, students will participate in prearranged weekend cultural trips throughout the host country.

Project GO is an initiative sponsored by the Defense Language and National Security Education Office and administered by the Institute of International Education.
