

Minor in Communication and Broadcast Media

As the world continues to become more information-driven, the demand for professionals who can communicate complex information continues to increase. All industries—from aviation and aerospace to healthcare and sports—need professionals who have the skills to clearly communicate the complex nature of their work to different audiences in different media.

The minor in Communication and Broadcast Media supplements any major by teaching students the communication competencies that impress employers, helping graduates stand out and propel their careers forward. Students may earn a minor in Communication and Broadcast Media by successfully completing 15 credit hours, comprising three credits of required coursework and 12 credits chosen from specified electives.

Some majors may not be eligible to pair with this minor. See the Minor Restrictions (<https://catalog.erau.edu/programs/undergraduate/minors/restrictions/>) list for details.
