

Minor in Terrorism Studies

The Terrorism Studies Minor (15 credits, 5 courses) combines several advanced topics in terrorism such as irregular warfare, concerns about transnational asymmetric insurgencies, counter-terrorism strategies and policy, and counterintelligence strategies with upper-level courses in international relations. Of the five total courses in the minor, students choose two international relations courses in order to more deeply develop an appreciation of the issues and challenges that terrorists present in various nations and cultures and how those impact the U.S.

Some majors may not be eligible to pair with this minor. See the Minor Restrictions (<https://catalog.erau.edu/programs/undergraduate/minors/restrictions/>) list for details.
