

Master of Space Operations

The Master of Space Operations (MSO) provides graduates of the program the necessary knowledge, skills and abilities to secure meaningful careers within today's growing space industry. This industry encompasses three major entities including: commercial space companies such as Blue Origin, civil space entities such as NASA, and the Department of Defense, such as the military's new Space Force. The degree program will be offered fully online, along with additional options for other learning modalities. The MSO degree takes a balanced approach with integrated and interdisciplinary curriculum rooted in areas of 1) domain awareness, 2) technical understanding and 3) functional execution.

Estimated Cost of Attendance