

Graduate Certificate in Information Systems Security

Students will:

- Analyze information security challenges in today's business environment.
- Analyze IT policy and governance practices related to information security practices.
- Establish detection, containment, and recovery strategies.